

THE ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES PROGRAM

The Center for Environmental Studies administers an Environmental Studies major and concentration, as well as a Maritime Studies concentration exclusively for students of the Williams-Mystic program in Mystic, CT. The program emphasizes interdisciplinary learning and flexibility, so students have the freedom to focus on what field interests them most.

MAJOR - 10 courses

- ENVI 101: Nature and Society
- ENVI 102: Introduction to Environmental Science
- 1 Foundational Course in Culture and Humanities, 200-level
- 1 Foundational Course in Science and Policy, 200-level
- 1 Foundational Course in Environmental Science, 200-level
- 4 Environmental Studies electives: 3 in one category, 1 in different category
- 1 Environmental Studies Senior Seminar, 400-level (Environmental Planning Workshop or rotating spring seminar)

CONCENTRATION - 6 courses

- ENVI 101: Nature and Society
- ENVI 102: Introduction to Environmental Science
- 1 elective in Environmental Policy
- 1 elective in Humanities, Arts, and Social Sciences
- 1 elective in Natural World
- 1 Environmental Studies Senior Seminar (Environmental Planning Workshop or spring Environmental Studies Senior Seminar), 400-level

MARITIME STUDIES CONCENTRATION - 7 courses

- GEOS 104: Oceanography or MAST 211: Oceanographic Processes at Williams-Mystic
- 1 core course at Williams-Mystic in Maritime History
- 1 core course at Williams-Mystic in Marine Policy
- 1 core course at Williams-Mystic in Literature of the Sea
- 1 core course at Williams-Mystic in Marine Sciences
- 1 elective in Environmental Policy; Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences; or Natural World
- 1 Environmental Studies Senior Seminar, 400-level (Environmental Planning Workshop or rotating spring seminar)

Find more information about the program at ces.williams.edu, and contact ces@williams.edu with questions.